What is the training course about?

We'll experiment a multimodal art expression method,
the Integrated Method Marchio-Patti:
painting, manual arts,
creative writing,
expressive music, theatre and dancing.

The MP Method proposes educational strategies based on art and art therapy , guiding the individual towards the development of skills in diversified contexts, respecting individual characteristics and enhancing the strengths of the group. The activities stimulate creative thinking, encouraging multisensory and emotional intelligences, relationships and assertive and positive behaviours. The focus is placed on different ways of working: large groups, small groups, individual work, creating expressive spaces that go beyond the box, receiving and providing help from and to the group.

It is an experiential and psycho-physical laboratory learning that contributes to the development and enhancement of critical neurobiological systems underlying cognition, emotions, perception, and planning and action. Art is no longer a product or a discipline to be taught, it is no longer a goal to be achieved, but a tool to discover and consciously evolve in relation to oneself and to others.
